GARDEN LIST

Summer-FALL 1957

Spring 1958 FEATURING

JUL 26 1957

New and Old Varieties of Iris, Hemerocallis, Peonies and Poppies

Native, Rock Garden, Border and Marsh Plants Imported and American Grown Bulbs

TO GARDEN FRIENDS: This list comes at a time when thoughts dwell on fall planting. We hope that you will find a few or many items here that you will want to add to your flower borders.

The majority listed here are largely our own garden favorites. We have tried, however, to select plants and varieties that give an unfailing performance in the majority of gardens, using frequently as a guide the annual poll of both the American Iris and the American Hemerocallis Society "100 Most Popular Varieties."

Generally speaking, all listed plants and bulbs can be grown in average loamy, well drained garden soil, with average care. A few, such as Jap iris, requiring special soil and extra moisture, are so marked. Other moisture or shade loving plants are so indicated.

For sake of brevity, names of Iris and Hemerocallis hybridizers, year of variety introduction, awards, etc., have been omitted, but will be furnished on request.

Generous spring rains extending through June have given us a large and super quality crop (for a small garden) of all Perennials. Wanting to share this abundance with you, you will find the special offerings at the end of the list truly bargain priced.

GUARANTEE—All plants will be freshly dug, of good size, and healthy condition. Any plant found otherwise should be promptly returned, for full credit or refund. Plants packed and shipped with care; notify us at once should shipment be received in poor condition. We cannot assure responsibility for growth and bloom after planting in your garden.

All varieties guaranteed true to name. Should any mislabeling occur, we will replace or refund money on notification.

NURSERY INFORMATION—The older varieties of Iris and Hemerocallis listed here were formerly grown at the larger nursery, Waldean Farm, Chesterton, Ind. These have been moved to the Porter Music Studio, home of Mrs. Alyce Martin McNamara, East Oakhill and Wagner Roads, Porter, Ind., and on leased land adjoining.

The soil in which the majority of the plants are grown rine soil in which the majority of the plants are grown is basically a rich, moist clay, ideal for the development of top-quality Siberian, Spuria, Louisianna and Jap Iris, Hemerocallis, Hibiscus, and other moisture- loving plants. Specially prepared soil is used in the growing of the newer Iris and Hemerocallis in the display borders surrounding Mrs. McNamara's home, as best results are obtained when sand, peat moss, and loamy or black soil are added to clay ground soil are added to clay ground.

More complete descriptions of plants or other desired information will be furnished on request. Also should you wish any variety not listed here, and care to write us, we will be glad to furnish price, as we have a number of unlisted varieties additional.

Courtesy discounts are given to public display gardens, botanical gardens, etc., also commercial growers.

To enjoy more, and grow better Iris and Hemerocallis, join one or both of the national societies that have promoted interest and development of the fine varieties moted interest and development of the line varieues that we have today. Membership in the American Iris Society is $5.00 per year, and in the American Hemerocallis Society $3.50 per year — giving you a fine year-book and interesting bulletins. Make your check out to either group, send to us for forwarding, and we will send you a choice new Iris or Hemerocallis with your order.

THANK YOU FOR READING OUR AD, AND SENDING FOR THIS GARDEN LIST. WE HOPE OUR SELECTION OF PLANTS PLEASES YOU, AND THAT WE WILL BE FAVORED WITH A TRIAL ORDER.

In moving plants from the larger nursery, some Iris and Hemerocallis were set out without labels. We have marked them in bloom, by color largely, and want to sell them out, as long as the supply lasts.

Heavy spring rains gave us a real abundance of some, as well as a nice lot of certain perennials.

We think these are about the best "Dollar Buys" for any one who wants "a lot of color for a little money." To make sure of getting what you want, ORDER AT ONCE . . . before they are sold out.

HEMEROCALLIS LISTINGS

The "Hems" or Daylilies are truly a gardner's summer delight. The large lily-like blooms of pale lemon to riches orange, the bright to deep reds, and the striking banded or zoned varieties, when grown in massed clumps, make an unforgettable sight. Flewers (individual) may last but a day, but bloom on a clump lasts five to six weeks! So easy to grow, so disease and insect free, so toleran of soil — just set them out, give them plently of room and leave them alone for five or six years. You'll especially enjoy the newer varieties, with their large flowers and rich color range.	t r a t

Oriental Poppies, with their silken, creped or ruffled petals of flaming scarlet to palest pink, add an interest and flamboyance to the late May, early June garden. Used as companion plants for Tall Bearded Iris, the later flowered varieties carry on till the early Hemerocallis

In very recent years the new color of watermelon-rose adds much to the Poppy group, as well as the truly brilliant taffeta-like reds.

You will need well-drained and fine loamy garden soil, with full sun or very light shade for the rose-toned varieties. Our plants are large, well-grown roots, which given good care and winter protection, are sure to bloom the following spring

PEONIES

Peonies are the background, permanent planting, standby beauties of Midwest gardeners. Nothing excels or rivals the huge massive pink, red or white blooms for cutting. We will send you 1 each of the well-known FESTIVA MAXIMA, the large white with crimson fleckings, MONS. JULES ELIE, large light rose pink, and a beautiful red of our selection for only $2.50. These are large, 3 to 5 eye quality roots.

GENERAL PERENNIAL LIST

Although Iris, Hemerocallis, Peonies and Poppies are the dominant features of our garden, we would not be without the spice and variety — the lovely forms and delicate colorings — of other charming Perennials. Most on this list are known and grown by gardeners everywhere, so require little description. Except for newer varieties, we have been generous in our pricing of these Perennials at 35c each, 3 for $1.00, or 10 for $3.00.
